+Principal

Northwinds Band Director and Conductor, Helen Bauer, was Symphonic Band Director and instrumental music teacher in the Baldwin Schools for 35 years. During her tenure the band performed and toured extensively and received the highest ratings at NY State School Music Association Festivals [NYSSMA]. In 2002 National School Band & Orchestra Magazine named her New York State Band Director of the Year. In 2006 Mrs. Bauer was honored by the NY State Band Directors Association for her “dedication to the band movement and maintenance of the highest standards in the selection and performance of fine literature.” Retired from public school teaching since 2003, she remains active as a clinician, state adjudicator, and community activist and volunteer.

Since its inception in September 2007, Northwinds Symphonic Band draws large and enthusiastic audiences. The band is a wonderfully diverse group of musicians of all ages [18-83], occupations and experience. Northwinds is committed to the performance of standard concert band repertoire including marches, Broadway and movie favorites, transcriptions, the 20th century classics and new releases. In addition to its home venue at North Shore High School and annual Salute to Veterans concert which has been performed at the Cradle of Aviation Museum in Garden City and the Wunsch Arts Center in Glen Cove, the band appears annually at Morgan Park, and has also performed under the auspices of Sagamore Hill National Historic Site in Oyster Bay. Members of the band recently presented a very successful Young People’s Concert at the Hewlett-Woodmere Public Library. The band is available for charity and fundraising events.
